

Abstract of the Disclosure

A release agent fluid management system and methods of dispensing such fluid in fuser apparatus of image reproduction systems. The release agent fluid management system controllably applies release agent fluid to 5 the fuser surface. A processor controls the amount of applied release agent fluid based on one or more image reproduction operating parameters.